Railroad Men At Amarillo Are Accused of Series Of Thefts.

Amarillo, Texas, July 17.—Seven railroad men have been arrested by federal officers in connection with the theft of goods from freight cars on the Rock Island railroad. The officials believe these men have been operating systematically for several years and that thousands of dollars worth of goods have been taken.

The men who are held, as given out by revenue officer W. C. Pope, are: W. Simpson, A. J. Schmidt, Leon Martin, L. J. Walker, A. C. Albrecht and G. H. Reed and G. P. Reddick.

Some of the goods sought were found hidden at the homes of the defendants, said the officers, and other articles were found buried in various places.

Railroad Officials Aid.

Included among those who worked on the case were Lloyd Fletcher, of the department of justice, and deputy United States marshal Don Bolton, J. E. Burnett, of the Rock Island railroad, and other officials of the railroad company, who have for long been seeking to trace many missing articles.

Officers state that they have thus far recovered everything from a typewriter to a bottle of toilet water, and they say they have ever evidence that a dozen or more men were involved in the thefts.

One merchant, said to be in a nearby city, is expected to be arrested on charge of handling stolen goods, and other arrests are expected.

Both in Amarillo and other points, the federal officers do not mind.

To End Delay
In Securing
Auto Numbers

Tax Collectors To Be Furnished Supply of Numbers, Is New Plan.

Austin, Tex., July 17.—At the monthly meeting of the state highway commission, George A. Duren, state highway engineer submitted a recommendation to the commission, which, if adopted, will greatly facilitate the handling of number plates by the department where new cars are being registered in accordance with the new law, which became effective on June 24.

Under this act, persons desiring to register a car must have it done at the county tax collector's office or the county engineer's office. The recommendation to the commission, which, if adopted, will greatly facilitate the handling of number plates by the department where new cars are being registered in accordance with the new law, which became effective on June 24.

The plan recommended by engineer Duren is for the department to send to each collector in the state an ample supply of number plates, and when a car is registered the collector will immediately furnish the registered with a number plate, and thus avoid the delay in securing a number plate which has been a serious complaint over the present plan, and it is more than likely the plan will be adopted by the commission.
